Markets

---

We are the supplier of choice for industry leaders...

Medical Devices & Implantables

Medical device and implant manufacturers demand the highest quality materials to exacting specifications. We supply fully certified and traceable alloys from the most respected and reliable mills, never sacrificing quality for price.

Energy and Power

Tomorrow's energy industry will rely on innovation, flexibility and efficiency. These qualities have been hallmark values of our company for over 30 years. We accept orders for high temperature, corrosion resistant materials in both large and small quantities every day. Our range of inventory can fulfill the needs of the nuclear, oil and renewable energy industries today and tomorrow.

Aircraft & Aerospace

Aerospace parts manufacturers rely on us everyday to provide the unique array of alloys, sizes and tempers used in air and space craft. Our policy of no minimum orders means that you can fill an immediate need for an emergency part, yet our resources allow you to place blanket orders when the time is right to secure the best pricing in this supply driven

Job Shop & OEM

We are also a recognized leader in providing the metals used by general manufacturing and production markets. We inventory the wide range of material types and sizes that meet the daily requirements of our thousands of customers all across the nation.

Since 1980 we've been building long-term relationships with companies both big and small. We not only stock and supply the broadest range of high temp and corrosion resistant alloys available but we have expansive knowledge of those alloys. Our materials are of the highest quality. The customers we serve demand it.

Call M. Vincent & Associates today for quality alloys and customer service you can depend on.
